Ferris FRC7 Remote Controlled Mower

The Ferris FRC7 remote control allows the mower to be operated from a distance of up to 300m reducing the risk, physical effort, and exposure to vibration, noise, and emissions. The FRC7's tracked low-gravity undercarriage ensures stability on steep inclines up to 55° and provides superior traction, whilst also allowing for forward and backward mowing, making turning on a slope unnecessary and preventing potential damage to the underlying soil.

The FRC7 has a 48V DC drive system that provides power to the blades and to the tracks and can operate over a distance of up to 200m on battery power alone and without having to start the engine. Both the tracks and mower deck are electrically driven by a hybrid e-drive system that combines a combustion engine with a battery drive system, resulting in a highly effective powertrain, and load sensing ability which keeps the mower deck performing optimally and automatically adjusts the mowing speed when conditions get tougher.
